CATHOLIC CHURCH IS OPPOSED TO DRY LAW

BELIEVES IN SOBRIETY BUT NOT IN FORCE

Cardinal O'Connell Holds Church Applauds Voluntary Abstinence
SAYS PROHIBITION ERRS
Declares That Volstead Act Is Flatly Opposed to Holy Scripture

New York—(AP)—A new note on prohibition, which has been agitating the Episcopal church has been struck in a pronouncement by Cardinal O'Connell of Boston that the Roman Catholic church applauds voluntary abstinence but opposes compulsory prohibition. Cardinal O'Connell did not mention the Episcopal controversy started by the announcement of the church temperance society of the Episcopal church that it favored legalization of light wines and beers.

He confined himself to defining the position of his church and warning Protestant prohibition leaders that the Catholic church would not allow itself to be entangled in the compulsory abstinence movement.

Although the Catholic church has long been fighting against intemperance, the Cardinal said, compulsory prohibition is a different matter.

"For compulsory prohibition," he said, "in general is flatly opposed to Holy Scripture and to Catholic tradition."

"Although it has been made clear a thousand times that it will work with our separated brethren as temperance men but not as tools of those whose confessed policy is worldwide prohibition by installments, disloyal attempts are made to entangle us."

When Cardinal Hayes arrived here last Saturday after a holy year visit to the Vatican, he defined the Catholic church's stand as always for voluntary temperance and against extremes like prohibition.

Dr. James Empringham, national secretary of the Church Temperance society, said Monday that his organization would continue its movement to modify the Volstead act. Only 19 out of 141 bishops thus far have publicly opposed the society's stand, he said.

Dr. Empringham said that Bishop Manning of New York three weeks ago told him he did not believe in prohibition but did believe in enforcement of the law. The bishop said this statement was in error and that this strong prohibition sermon of Sunday represented his attitude.

At Lancaster, Pa., W. E. ("Pussy-foot") Johnson, discussing Dr. Empringham's stand for light wines and beer, said "there are some people who get tired of being good too long at one time."

TAKE MAN FROM ASYLUM FOR MURDER TRIAL

Philadelphia—(AP)—After 23 years confinement in an insane asylum, George Niek faces a second trial for the murder of his mother with an ax.

According to testimony at the first trial, Niek entered the store managed by his mother on Feb. 11, 1903, and took $9 from the cash drawer. When the woman remonstrated he killed her with the ax. He then attacked his invalid sister, breaking arms and legs.

In March, 1904, he was convicted, but was granted a new trial because of reports that he was acting erratic. Late in 1904 a insanity commission pronounced him insane and he was committed to an asylum.

District Attorney Charles E. Fox has made public a report sent him last week by the superintendent of the asylum, stating that Niek during 14 months has been put through a series of mental tests to which he responded in a normal manner.

APPROVE BILL TO RAISE SALARIES OF JUDGES

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—A bill to increase the salaries of all federal judges was approved Tuesday by the house judiciary committee.

The measure would raise the salary of the chief justice of the United States from $15,000 to $20,000 and the salaries of associate justices of the supreme court from $14,500 to $20,000. District judges would be raised from $7,500 to $12,500. Judges of the circuit court of appeals would receive $15,000 instead of $9,500.

Capital "Spokesman" Method Due For Panning

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1926 by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Although there are signs of a definite plan to begin political attacks on President Coolidge immediately after the tax bill is out of the way in the senate, it can hardly be said that any organized movement has been determined upon by the Democrats and insurgent Republicans. Individual senators have their own ideas of what constitutes a weakness in the Coolidge armor. One that is being talked about most at the moment is the custom which has grown up under the Coolidge administration whereby news is given out at the executive mansion on the authority of the "White House spokesman." The fact that attacks were launched against political foes in congress and that the White House spokesman was the author of the criticism has led many Democratic senators to conclude that they should force the spokesman "out into the open."

NO QUESTION NOW
There will be no question when the senate debate is over with just who the spokesman is. In fact there is none now. Nor has there been any concealment of the fact that the president meets the newspapermen twice a week. The real point at issue is just what does the White House spokesman say. And for reasons of his own, the president does not permit exact quotation of his informal conversations.

It is a matter of matured judgment with the president after a careful consideration of all the pros and cons. Mr. Coolidge simply feels that if he has anything to say over his own signature he can choose the time and occasion for such expression. If he wishes also to discuss public affairs informally with the press and think in conversational form, he does not think it incumbent upon him to allow stenographers or anybody else to make a verbatim account of that conference any more than other talks he may have with callers who visit him day by day.

Mr. Coolidge's attitude is that the press desires a slant on the news, so to speak. The newspapermen desire to hear from his own lips definite declarations of policy so that they may be guided in what they write. If congress feels this is the wrong way to do it, Mr. Coolidge has the right to discontinue conferences with the press and issue information to individual correspondents very much as other presidents have done from time to time. The custom of newspaper conference grew out of a desire to play no favorites and to treat all members of the press equally.

CAN USE INFLUENCE
What congress objects to is that the president has the opportunity not merely to explain facts about the government but to influence and even prejudice the press, especially on controversial and political matters. The answer to this is to be found in the right of congress to attack the presidential viewpoint and thus neutralize it.

HOLD GAS QUIZ AT EAU CLAIRE
Third Hearing of Standard Oil Co. Practices at Appleton Wednesday

Madison—(AP)—The inquiry by Attorney General Herman J. Eklund into the gasoline industry and the Standard Oil Co. particularly, shifted Tuesday to Eau Claire, where the second of a series of four hearings, started here Monday was held.

Independent operators, nine of whom testified Monday, were called to give their views before the state department of markets, relative to the practice instituted last July by the Standard Oil Company of granting discounts to purchasers of large amounts of gasoline.

The state department also will conduct hearings at Appleton, Wednesday and Milwaukee Thursday before deciding whether the practice is an unfair method of competition or whether the department will promulgate an order requiring public posting at all service stations of all special prices.

Independent operators Monday maintained they had lost the local business of large corporations through the agreement to purchase gasoline from the Standard Oil Co. for a large amount to obtain the discount price. They asserted they were unable to compete with the large concern, for business over their territory. All admitted that they also had adopted the contract to meet competition so far as possible.

GERMANY WILL ANSWER ITALY IN SOFT TONE

Stresemann Tells Reichstag Mussolini's Speech Full of Arrogance

Berlin—(AP)—"The German government must decline to reply to Premier Mussolini in a tone which is better suited to mass meetings than to diplomatic conversation with other nations."

Foreign Minister Stresemann made this declaration in the Reichstag Tuesday in opening his reply to Saturday's broadcast from the Italian premier regarding the situation in south Tyrol.

"We have no quarrel with the Italian people, who according to Mussolini's own words written in 1920, have no interests incompatible with the Germans," Dr. Stresemann continued. "German-Italian difficulties, as Mussolini then stated, always were due to misunderstanding and distrustful conditions of mind, rather than conflicting economic or political interests."

Going back to the genesis of the south Tyrol problem, the foreign minister pointed out that the Italian government, before the advent of the fascists and also the king, had promised the inhabitants freedom of language, religion and culture. He insisted that Germany had no political interest in the problem, but merely a cultural one.

MUSSOLINI ARROGANT
Deploping what he termed irresponsible newspaper utterances, and the unauthorized attempt by a small group of Munich businessmen to inaugurate a boycott of Italy, he stated that the government was unalterably opposed to such childish measures and was concerned in maintaining the best relations with Germany's neighbors.

He characterized Premier Mussolini's speech as "filled with arrogance, contradictions and vehemence, which attempt to hide the inner weakness of his argument."

He insisted that Mussolini, who had accepted German hospitality earlier in his career and now derided German tourists, was ungrateful. Amid derisive laughter from the nationalist and communist deputies Dr. Stresemann said:

"Threats are incompatible with the spirit of the League of Nations."

BANDIT KILLED FLEEING POSSE

Second Is Wounded, Probably Fatally, and Three Are Captured

Clinton, Ia.—(AP)—One man was killed, another probably fatally wounded and three, including Alfred Fairfield and Frank Sawyer, convicted payroll robbers, were captured near Chadwick, Ill., near here Tuesday when they attempted to shoot their way through a posse of Illinois officers after escaping from deputy sheriffs here.

The dead man was not identified in first reports reaching here. Neither had the name of the other wounded man been established. The latter was left at Chadwick, while the prisoners were being returned to Clinton.

The gun fight terminated a spectacular flight across the Mississippi into Illinois after three confederates of Fairfield and Sawyer covered deputy sheriffs with shotguns and permitted the two payroll robbers to escape, then followed in another automobile. Fairfield and Sawyer had just been sentenced to serve terms of from one to 25 years in the state prison for a $2,000 payroll robbery here, and were being returned to jail, when the deputies were confronted by the three confederates of the pair.

The prisoners, as if by careful prearrangement walked calmly to an automobile at the curb and drove away, the rescue attracting little attention. Then, as their rescuers released the deputies and ran for their own automobile the officers fired upon them, and one is believed to have been wounded. They obtained a good lead on pursuing officers and were well into Illinois before the chase was organized.

MUST ACCOUNT

Governor Len Small of Illinois was denied a rehearing Tuesday by the supreme court of that state and directed to account for $1,100,000 in interest money which he is charged with having withheld while state treasurer in 1917 and 1918. The decision was divided.

SMALL MUST ACCOUNT FOR STATE FUNDS

Illinois Governor Is Denied Rehearing in Latest Court Decision

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Reaffirming its previous decision, the supreme court of Illinois Tuesday denied a rehearing and directed Governor Len Small to account for $1,100,000 in interest money alleged withheld by him while state treasurer in 1917 and 1918.

It was a divided decision. Justice Heard and Duncan repeating with added emphasis their original dissent.

This exhausts the governor's last alternative. He must account. It ends another phase of his troubled career as Illinois chief executive. In 1921 and 1922 he was indicted, tried and acquitted on a criminal charge of conspiracy based on the same evidence used in the suit for an accounting.

By its majority decision reaffirmed Tuesday the supreme court held Governor Small, the late State Senator E. C. Curtis and V. C. Curtis withdrew more than $300,000,000 from the state treasury for investments and reinvestments in packers notes, and that not a single cent of the resulting interest money was paid into the treasury.

Governor Small and his advisers who evidently expected an adverse decision already had started to raise a fund by popular subscription to relieve the governor of a personal accounting.

Thousands of letters have been sent automobile owners asking contributions pointing to Governor Small's hard road program.

On Dec. 16, when the supreme court handed down its opinion upholding the Sangamon county court, Governor Small addressed the people of Illinois, saying that "a great mistake had been made." Shortly afterward he asked a rehearing.

POLICE MYSTIFIED OVER DEATH OF GIRL

New York—(AP)—The breakdown of a reported confession and the explosion of a tentative identification, left police Tuesday mystified by the death of a young woman whose bullet-pierced body was found Monday on a spookbank near the East River.

Charles Mitchell, who was arrested and reported to have confessed after he had asked a policeman to get him a doctor to treat a bullet wound in his shoulder, denied all knowledge of the crime or the girl and late Monday night police said that he was not implicated.

Identification by police of the victim as "Superstition Jimmy" Genevieve McGuire, 25, from a small town in Connecticut, also was found erroneous.

SENATE ASKS COOLIDGE TO ACT ON STRIKE

President Reiterates His Policy of Non-Inter-vention

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The senate appealed to President Coolidge Tuesday to seek a solution of the anthracite controversy but the request was answered almost immediately by a reiteration at the White House of the president's policy on non-intervention.

The senate's action, it was said, officially had not convinced Mr. Coolidge that there was any change in conditions which would justify a change in his policy.

He does not consider the senate's advice in any way binding upon the federal government, although he regards it as a valuable expression of opinion. He also feels that passage of the coal resolution was more or less necessary in order to save the time of the senate and permit it to center attention on the pending tax bill. The author of the measure, Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, had given notice he would insist on a vote on the proposal every day, and much time was being consumed in roll calls.

The president was described at the White House as most anxious to see a termination of the anthracite suspension but unable to see any method by which the federal government, if injected into the situation, could lend effective assistance toward a solution.

The vote for adoption was 54 to 27. On last Friday the senate refused to take up the proposal, and on the following day it repeated the refusal 43 to 38.

FIND RUINED MAYAN CITY IN YUCATAN

New York—(AP)—A ruined Mayan city, containing a dozen buildings and six temples in fair condition, has been discovered by the Mason-Spinden expedition to Yucatan, the New York Times says Tuesday in a copyrighted despatch from Commel, Mexico.

Gregory Mason, member of the expedition, reported that the city probably was called Muxil and was once an important port on the trade route between Mayan cities in North Yucatan and Central America.

One of the temples, Mr. Mason reported, bore traces of incense burners and gourd vessels in a subterranean structure used comparatively recently by Indians fleeing the hostile Mexicans. The first temple was found Jan. 28, on the edge of a large lake not indicated on current maps. A narrow canal led to a second lake where the city was found at the edge of a forest in the chicle country.

Many rare birds were found by the explorers, 15 new species being added to the known Yucatan fauna.

STILLMANS APPEAR IN SHIP'S DINING ROOM

New York—(AP)—The New York American says that during the second day of their voyage Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stillman appeared together at dinner in the main dining room of the Olympic. During the first day they had remained in seclusion.

"At dinner tonight," the story says "Mrs. Stillman did most of the talking while the famous banker appeared gravely happy."

Neither seemed to mind the curiosity of the other passengers but both refused to be interviewed. Mrs. Stillman appears at the swimming pool every morning and enjoys a plunge. The tougher the weather the better she likes it.

Mrs. Stillman's youthful figure and becomingly bobbed titian hair have aroused the audible admiration of women passengers.

SPANISH AVIATOR HOPS OFF ON LAST LEG OF LONG FLIGHT

Rio de Janeiro — (AP) — Commander Ramon Franco, who has flown from Palos, Spain, hopped off Tuesday at 7:21 a. m. for Buenos Aires.

The distance to Buenos Aires is 1,382 miles. He expected to stop at Montevideo, Uruguay after a flight of 1,200 miles in order to take on gas.

After his visit to Buenos Aires, it is said to be the purpose of Commander Franco to return to Montevideo to pay an official visit to the Uruguayan government.

Buenos Aires is the end of the flight which was organized to link Spain with the Americas by air as Columbus did across the seas.

YOUNG NEGRO IS SENTENCED TO BE HANGED

Crowd Quiets Down as Attacker of 12-year-old Girls Is Convicted

Georgetown, Del.—(AP)—The populace of this county seat, which Monday caused the Delaware national guardsmen to use tear gas during the trial of Harry Butler, 21-year-old negro, had quieted down Tuesday.

Butler, who assaulted 12-year-old Ethel Stelmaz, was convicted and sentenced to be hanged in the jail yard here Feb. 26. The jury deliberated eight minutes. During the trial 2,000 persons seethed about the barricaded court yard at times demanding that the authorities surrender the negro and at other times charging the barred wire entanglement which state guardsmen had thrown up about the court house, in vain efforts to get to the negro.

With the speedy conviction and sentence passed subsided and the prisoner was taken to the New Castle workhouse near Wilmington without demonstration.

Earlier himself was the only witness for the defense. He admitted having attacked Ethel in her home at Bridgeville, near here, Jan. 22, while her parents were gone for the day. He confessed to having beaten her with a board to still her cries and having taken her to a nearby timber plot, where she was found by her parents, semi-conscious and bleeding from skull wounds. She is now in a hospital.

AIM AIR QUIZ AT MAJOR PATRICK

So Charges William Mitchell, Who Rallies to Chief's Defense

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Secretary Davis' investigation of activities of air service officers is aimed primarily at Major General Patrick, head of the army air force, in the belief of William Mitchell, the former colonel has rallied to the defense of his one time chief.

Describing General Patrick as "the only member of the old regime to see the light and come out and tell the truth about it," Mitchell said the general is being made the victim of an espionage system within the department. The new investigation of the air service officers, Mitchell contended, is "aimed at any change in existing conditions" and was undertaken at the insistence "of the war department clique." A circular, said to have been issued to obtain congressional backing for the bill proposing establishment of an air corps and now subject of a department inquiry, was given to Secretary Davis, Mitchell declared, by a clerk, presumably acting as a spy.

The former official said the circular presented a summary of a memorandum prepared by General Patrick for the use of congress and that it was distributed by a reserve officer. Mitchell characterized the "espionage system" as a continuation of one invoked during the war and that any man is disloyal who "does not agree with what the clique in the war department wants him to say."

PROVISION IN TAX BILL GETS SENATE O. K.

Action Is Taken Monday at First Night Session Over Reduction

AMENDMENT LOST
Couzens and Smoot Engage in Verbal Battle Over Rules

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Repeal of the law allowing publication of the amounts of income tax payments is assured, the senate having approved this provision written into the tax reduction bill by the house.

Before accepting by proclamation the repeal provision the senate rejected 19 to 22 an amendment by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, proposing to make all income tax returns subject to public inspection.

This action, taken Monday night at the first night session, disposed of one of the principal points of controversy in the revenue bill and which developed a four-day fight, followed by a personal exchange between Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, and Chairman Smoot of the finance committee, in charge of the bill.

COUZENS, SMOOT CLASH
Senator Couzens charged Senator Smoot had engaged in "sharp practices" in obtaining an agreement from him on an hour for a vote on the publicity provision and then "tricking him out of promised time in which to speak." After Senator Couzens had been denied the floor on a point of order raised by Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, who said he was violating senate rules "by impugning the integrity of a senator," Senator Smoot vigorously denied the accusations.

Later when offered an opportunity in which to speak, Senator Couzens said he felt "too contemptuous to make any statement, which will be within the senate rules."

Both advocates and opponents of the full publicity provision denounced the present law allowing publication of the amounts of income tax payments and an attempt was made to amend the bill to provide for its continuance.

MAKE AN AMENDMENT
Despite the decision on publicity the senate still faces more than 20 amendments pending against the reduction bill including the proposal of many senators to continue the inheritance and gift taxes which the senate bill would repeal.

Opponents of the repeal of the inheritance tax, comprising about the same group who fought for publicity of returns, have promised a "long fight" and managers of the bill were prepared Tuesday to continue the program of long day and night sessions. Wednesday had been set as the dead line for passage of the bill.

ARREST GOODYEAR HEAD FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Los Angeles, Calif.—(AP)—William P. Downs, treasurer of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company of California, in whose accounts an alleged shortage of $150,000 was discovered a week ago was arrested on an embezzlement charge here Monday. He was removed from his home, there he has been seriously ill following a nervous breakdown, to the prison ward of the General hospital. According to officials of the tire company, Downs, just prior to his arrest admitted to them that he took the money but said he had used virtually all of it to pay blackmailers who threatened to expose his past.

SEEK TO LEARN BEST PEN POINT FOR EACH CHILD

Teachers Adopt New Method to Improve Their Pupil's
Writing

A report on the results of an intensive experiment in writing problems was to be given by fifth and sixth grade school teachers at a meeting with Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. An attempt has been made to find the type of pen point best suited to the muscular and nervous controls of the separate children. Heretofore, it has been usual in schools to give each child a fine point pen and expect him to use it to the best advantage, but educators have learned a lesson from fountain pen manufacturers who build different types of pens to best suit the needs of their different customers.

A range of pen points corresponding to those found in fountain pens was chosen by the schools about six weeks ago and each child was asked to write the same paragraph with each type of pen, and then tell with which one he was able to write best. The next step in the experiment was to select a different pen each week for the children to use in all of their writing. Records were kept of the points used in each lesson.

The teachers will now compare the first paragraphs written six weeks ago, with the week's results on the different pens, and see where the children seemed to do the best writing. The plan is not to disparage the use of a fine point pen, Mr. Rohan said, rather it is to take the child where he is found and develop his writing from that place. If he can be trained to use a fine pen, he will be, but if his muscular and nervous coordination prevents his doing his best work with a fine pen, he will be permitted to use a coarser one.

The Wisconsin Agricultural department will receive 15 per cent, or $538.38, for administration of the dog license law, but the county will receive a rebate later in the year. More than $300 was granted as a rebate last year, Mr. Hantschel said.

LET 'EM FIGHT IT OUT

The anthracite strike is to continue. The operators and miners presumably have been gotten together for the last time. Each side professes to believe that it is through and that it now resolves itself down to a contest of endurance. Of course this may not be true; the joint conference was not so far from an agreement as the asperity of the representatives might indicate. Both sides agree to arbitration in principle and both to the point of the fact finding commission as a preliminary step.

The rock over which the conference split was whether the arbitral award should carry compulsory acceptance or whether its effectiveness should depend upon public opinion. Mr. Lewis insists that he will never consent to the fixing of wages by disinterested parties and in this position he seems thus far to have the support of the rank and file of the Miners' union. As indicating a lack of unanimity on this question, we find the railroad men contracting with their employers for the setting up of what in every essential respect is arbitration machinery.

The coal dispute is now ripe for the full use of the politicians. They will need no urging by either side to act. They are only too ready to appropriate to themselves any agitation or proposal that might increase their popularity. It does not matter in the least to them whether their services are warranted or whether their suggestions are sound; what they principally want is to be seen and heard.

Thus far the president has wisely kept his hands off and we think he will continue to be wise if he adheres to this policy. It would not only be a mistake for him to favor one side or the other, but we should not set up the office of the presidency as a final authority on such disputes or as a social or industrial mediator.

There is nothing in the situation to warrant extraordinary action insofar as the fuel requirements of the country are concerned. There is no hardship of great consequence in this respect as a result of the strike. Substitute fuels have been found in abundance. The miners are the principal sufferers. The picture of their want and privation is distressing to contemplate. However, even this does not warrant, we think, presidential interference. The critical aspect of the strike is confined entirely within the state of Pennsylvania. However, anthracite has an important place in the fuel supply as a whole, so that its production is a proper subject for consideration by congress.

If there is to be national action, we think it is up to congress. Had congress carried out the recommendations of the coal commission, which made a thorough investigation of the coal industry, the present strike might have been averted. What congress can do in the premises now is not clear, although politicians in both the house and senate will find plenty to offer. It is unfortunate that industrial differences of so serious a nature as that in the anthracite industry finally fall into the tender hands of politicians, for while politics occasionally patches them up, it never finds a permanent or sound solution, and it will not do so in the present instance. Still, under the circumstances, there does not appear to be any other way out of the deadlock.

STIRRING UP TROUBLE

The wine of long continued power has gone to Benito Mussolini's head. In the course of a speech to parliament, the Italian dictator, carried away with his own enthusiasm and that of his followers, declared: "Not only will we never lower the flag on the Brenner frontier, but if necessary we will carry it beyond Brenner." Such words are not peaceful. They are a direct provocation to the governments of both Austria and Germany; the shaking, as it were, of the mailed fist in the face of recently defeated and heavily penalized antagonists. The questions bound up in Italy's Tyrol policy are not for America to determine, but whatever injustices Germany and Austria may feel they suffer as a result of that policy are not likely to be forgotten or ameliorated by the offensive words of Mussolini. Germany at least is to be reckoned with, if not today at some day in the future. Foundations that ultimately lead to war are laid by just such threats as that gratuitously offered by the Italian dictator.

Coincident with this unfriendly demonstration, Italian newspapers give expression to views that are hostile to France. There are many Italians who believe that France is their greatest rival politically and economically, and that France's increase of her colonial possessions out of the war was at the expense of Italian expansion. Furthermore, the Italians have some temperamental dislikes for the French. It would not be difficult to provoke discord between the two nations.

Every day seems to give added evidence that Mussolini is destined to be a trouble-maker for Europe. He does not seem to fit in with the peace undertakings of the major nations. His policies are founded on pre-war intrigue and pre-war militarism and conceptions of national destinies. His own idea of Italy's power is of course exaggerated. She is not so strong as fascist fanaticism would have him believe. Because his sway is so complete at home he imagines he can extend it beyond. In this he makes two fatal mistakes. One is his inability to finance war, and the other is the repressive effect upon Italy of outraged international opinion that war would provoke.

Mussolini is not a menace to Germany or a menace to France, but he is a menace to the peace of Europe. He is a fool not to know when Italy is well off and when its prospects are bright. A dictator wields autocratic power. The history of dictators is that they have had to wage wars to maintain that power. In his manifest tendency toward provoking some nation to fight, Mussolini is running true to form.

TRACTORS IN RUSSIA

As the population of Russia is something like eighty per cent agricultural, much importance attaches to the announcement that the soviet government has purchased 12,000 tractors from the Ford Motor company. The Russian newspapers, it is said, are elated, especially with the credit arrangements. While we may concede that it is noteworthy, on the part of the Ford Motor company to trust the soviet government for ninety days, this is not nearly so significant as the beginning of the application of machinery to farming in Russia.

The Russian farmers do not believe in socialism. They have strong convictions against government ownership of their lands and crops. They firmly believe that they should reap the rewards of their labor, and that their labor should make them independent. Machinery will make the farmers independent, politically and economically.

It is better for Russia and the world that the farmers of Russia are being equipped with implements of production than that a million soldiers should be equipped with implements of destruction. In time the people will control the government, instead of the government controlling the people.

HOW TO KEEP COMFORTABLE

Purposing to help health minded people keep the household temperature below the hygienic limit (68) and also to help people with an abnormal sensitivity to cold to keep warm, I could not entice this note "How to Keep Cool" nor yet "How to Keep Warm," for I want the both of you to hear and heed.

Health educated readers will please skip this paragraph—it is merely a repetition of an elementary fact of hygiene for the benefit of the health ignorant. On a perfect autumn day, before any kind of artificial heating is desired indoors, the air temperature indoors (as outdoors) is around 65 degrees and the air has 40 to 50 per cent relative humidity, which means it contains a little less than half the amount of moisture (water vapor) it can hold when completely saturated at that temperature. Now these conditions are ideal—most people find the air delightful on a perfect autumn day. Early in the fall, before you care for any form of artificial heat, if you will watch the thermometer indoors you will find that grandma, ma and the girls, even the girls dressed to kill, feel quite comfortable when the room temperature is between 63 and 65. Make a record of it privately, for their confusion later on. When winter comes they'll be snatching the thermometer and when they discover it away down to 63 or 65 they'll assume injured looks and imagine, or when they discover their pneumonia and all that, or accuse you of being a tightwad or just a crank without compassion for the feelings of others.

Now, then the relative humidity of the air falls rapidly with each degree of increased temperature, and that is mainly what is wrong with the atmosphere in the overheated dwelling, shop or office—it is excessively dried out. Any room having a temperature above 65 degrees in cold weather is probably overheated and abnormally arid. It is a familiar fact that atmosphere with a temperature of 65 and a relative humidity of, say, 40 per cent, feels comfortable to a normally clothed sedentary occupant, whereas a room atmosphere at 70 or 72 degrees and the low humidity of 15 to 20 per cent (which necessarily goes with such overheating) is likely to feel chilly to the normal individual.

Numerous contrivances for adding the desired moisture to overheated air are employed, but the best of these will evaporate only two or three gallons of water a day, whereas in order to keep the humidity up to a fair amount two or three gallons of water must be evaporated every hour in the dwelling of average size. The most practicable plan, therefore, is to strike the happy medium of moderate temperature—around 65, and the air will retain a fair degree of humidity if it is not heated above that temperature.

Persons accustomed to overheated air (70 degrees or more) become abnormally sensitive and suffer actual impairment of functions from this hygienic habit. They seem to lack the natural resistance to infections which normal individuals have. They blame their undue susceptibility to the common respiratory infections on the trifles to which they are hypersensitive, such as drafts, cold halls or churches or public conveyances (even Dr. Osler like to ascribe his frequent bronchitis attacks to cold lecture rooms).

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
The Go-Between

What is the health extension institute—a society, a college, or what? (L. R.)

Answer—I think you refer to a corporation which practices medicine on a wholesale plan, by advertising extensively for business and then having customers examined by some doctor locally hired by the corporation to do the work. The customer is presumed to be too dumb to deal with the doctor (of his own selection) directly; the corporation gets the reports of the doctor's findings and has its "experts" in the home office advise the customer by mail. It is a very successful business—for the corporation.

U. S. SETS PACE IN CULTURE AND ART OF NATIONS

America's Discovery of Itself
"Crystallizing into New Americanism"

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—Americans who are alive today and saw McKinley elected president, would, if they took time to analyze the current United States, discover that their nation had made a momentous discovery. They would find that it has realized that it is a nation; that it has awakened to the fact that it has a tradition; that it has inflated its lungs in an exhilaration of national pride.

And looking back they would see their nation in its growth during the first quarter of the twentieth century, when it began to assume mature proportions. They would see its population leap more than 30,000,000; they would see it brush up against the world and thrill at the touch, as a youth thrills at his first worldly contact; and they would see it emerge as a world power of the first order, young, healthy, sturdy, and eager for further experience. And they would see it in its first attempt to be itself, and find that it is slowly, though surely, succeeding, as national consciousness dawns upon it.

GROWING OLDER
For this youngster of the nations, who during the past century, was considered by its European parents only as having "tremendous possibilities," has suddenly become old in experience, however young in years, and is killing faltered calves for its prodigal antecedents. And with this experience is crystallizing an Americanism, not of the old flamboyant, hand-playing, flag-waving type, but one that is durable and permanent, and makes for national traditions that outlast centuries.

True, this new Americanism is as yet rather feeble and is being fought, whether consciously or unconsciously, by all the complaints that affect the young nation—those "isms" and "ities" that are the final convulsions of adolescence before maturity—but it is founded on a solid foundation, and from all precedents set by other nations, should endure.

This new Americanism is displayed in American artistic circles. Following the war there was a mad rush to American shores by artists of Europe who found that folks back home could not pay that paper. But America could. So to America they came and America opened up and received them.

"What was there left for us to do," writes Daniel Gregory Mason, "but to open our mouths and shut our eyes, and try to swallow as much of it all as we could without drowning?"

MELTING POT
Mr. Mason is speaking of the invasion of America by European music, but music is but one phase of it. There are literature, painting, drama, sculpture, architecture and dancing. And in swallowing the conglomerate of alien art, America found herself in a dilemma. German, Briton, Frenchman, Russian, Spaniard, Italian Scandinavian, all threw their spite into the melting pot, and the problem now is to assimilate it. But the point is that there are efforts to do so, and these efforts are producing results. There is the new movement in literature that says there are American classics as well as those of other nations and peoples. There are Theodore Dreiser, James Branch Cabell, Henry L. Mencken, Sinclair Lewis, and others, whose efforts are producing an American literature. There are new American composers whose efforts are bent in the direction of creating an American in music.

There is the new opera by George Gershwin that strives to depict New York at work and at play. And there are the works of MacDowell and Towner for Americans to print to.

There are the lithographs of Bellows and the masterpieces of Sargent, and such sculptors as French have produced statues of which America can well be proud. And on the stage Americans have scored signal triumphs. American dramas have invaded Europe and have been applauded in Paris, London, Berlin, and Vienna. Indeed, one observer goes so far as to say that the rule of the British theater by Shaw has been imperiled by the invading Americans. And in architecture and dancing the United States has produced something of her own.

The Question Box

General Robert E. Lee said: "The thorough education of people is the most efficacious means of promoting the prosperity of the Nation." These words of the distinguished Southern General are none the less true now than when he spoke them. Our Washington Information Bureau is one of the greatest agencies for the distribution of free information and educational data in the world. Its services are free to readers of this paper. All you need to do is to send in your query together with two cents in stamps for return postage. Address: The Appleton-Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. Q. What meanings have the names of the Magi? N. A. R.

A. Caspar, white; Melchior, light faithfulness; Lord of the Treasure House.

Q. Did the plan to pay the Indians for land taken by the Quakers originate with William Penn? V. G. N.

A. This revolutionary idea did not originate with Penn, but with the Bishop of London.

Q. What can be done to keep pan-cakes from sticking to an aluminum griddle? H. M. A.

A. Add a little extra butter to the butter.

Q. What countries were signatory to the Locarno Treaty? J. E. M.

A. Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Italy, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Q. How are modern newspapers printed? F. S.

A. Rotary presses, which are used by most large newspapers today, print from curved plates fixed on cylinders which are constantly revolving and constantly printing. They are not fed with single sheets, but with a long web of paper, the press itself cutting off the desired length of sheet from the reel, either before or after the printing is completed. Practically all these presses have folding attachments which deliver the paper folded and ready for delivery. The simplest form has four cylinders, two for the stereo plates and two to give the impression but as newspapers have grown in size it has been necessary to add one, two or three rows of cylinders above the first set. Presses are run at such great speed that some turn out 48,000 twenty-eight-page papers per hour.

Q. What kind of timber is it which grows in the Philippines and is used as a substitute for mahogany? L. C. H.

A. The red bunnies of the Philippine Islands are used in Europe and America as substitutes for mahogany. The wood is not so hard and durable as mahogany, but it has a beautiful grain and permits of a fine polish.

Q. Is Lincoln's home still standing? K. T.

A. The home in which lived in Springfield, Ill., is still in existence as is the log cabin in which he was born. The latter is in the vicinity of Hodgenville, Ky.

Q. What kind of flour is best for bread and what kind for cake and pastry? W. H.

A. The department of agriculture says that yeast breads can be made more easily and often times more successfully from the so-called strong flours milled from hard wheat. This is because they contain a comparatively large quantity and high quality of gluten, the substance that enables the dough to stretch and hold within it the gas bubbles formed by the yeast during fermentation. Soft-wheat flours on the other hand, contain less gluten and it does not have the elastic quality of that in hard wheat. However, for cake, pastry, and quick bread, in which tenderness is of prime importance, this is desirable.

DARROW TO BE LAWYERS' GUEST AT RECEPTION

Bar Association Will Entertain Chicago Attorney When He Comes Next Friday

Clarence Darrow, famous Chicago attorney who speaks here Friday evening will be the guest of Outagamie County bar association while he is in Appleton. It was decided at a meeting of lawyers Monday noon. Mr. Darrow is expected to arrive here Friday afternoon and probably will be taken about the city for a short ride. Whether Mr. Darrow will be entertained at a dinner before his address in Lawrence Memorial chapel or whether he will be the guest at a reception following his talk depends upon his own wishes in the matter, attorneys said.

It is probable that Appleton people will not have another opportunity of hearing and seeing the famous lawyer. He consented to come here only after a great deal of persuasion, declaring that if he accepted only a very small number of the invitations to speak which come to him he would not have time for anything else.

Mr. Darrow addresses on crime and its prevention is said to be one of the most splendid lectures delivered by any American. It is said to be a clear cut presentation of his views concerning the prevention of crime and the training of youth. He has given expression to his views in these matters in books which have a wide circulation but his platform eloquence adds a great deal of force to his argument. Mr. Darrow is regarded as one of the most eloquent speakers America has ever had.

The address will begin about 8:20 Friday night in Lawrence Memorial chapel. The seat sale is in progress at Bollings drug store.

Pythians Open Three Day Program To Dedicate Their New Castle

DEDICATION of Appleton's new lodge rooms, Castle hall of the Knights of Pythias, will take place Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The program will open with an open house for the community from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 10 o'clock in the evening on Wednesday. A banquet and ball will be held at 6:30 Thursday evening and the formal dedication services will be held at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Three hundred people are expected at the dinner and dance. Castle hall is located at the corner of E. Lawrence and S. Morrison streets and it formerly was the Methodist church. Redecoration of the interior and construction of a new front on the building has been completed. The new front does away with the high stairs of the old church. It contains two high turrets and gives a distinct impression of a medieval castle. In fact it is modelled after the castle of the days of Damon and Pythias and it is said to be an exact reproduction of an old European building.

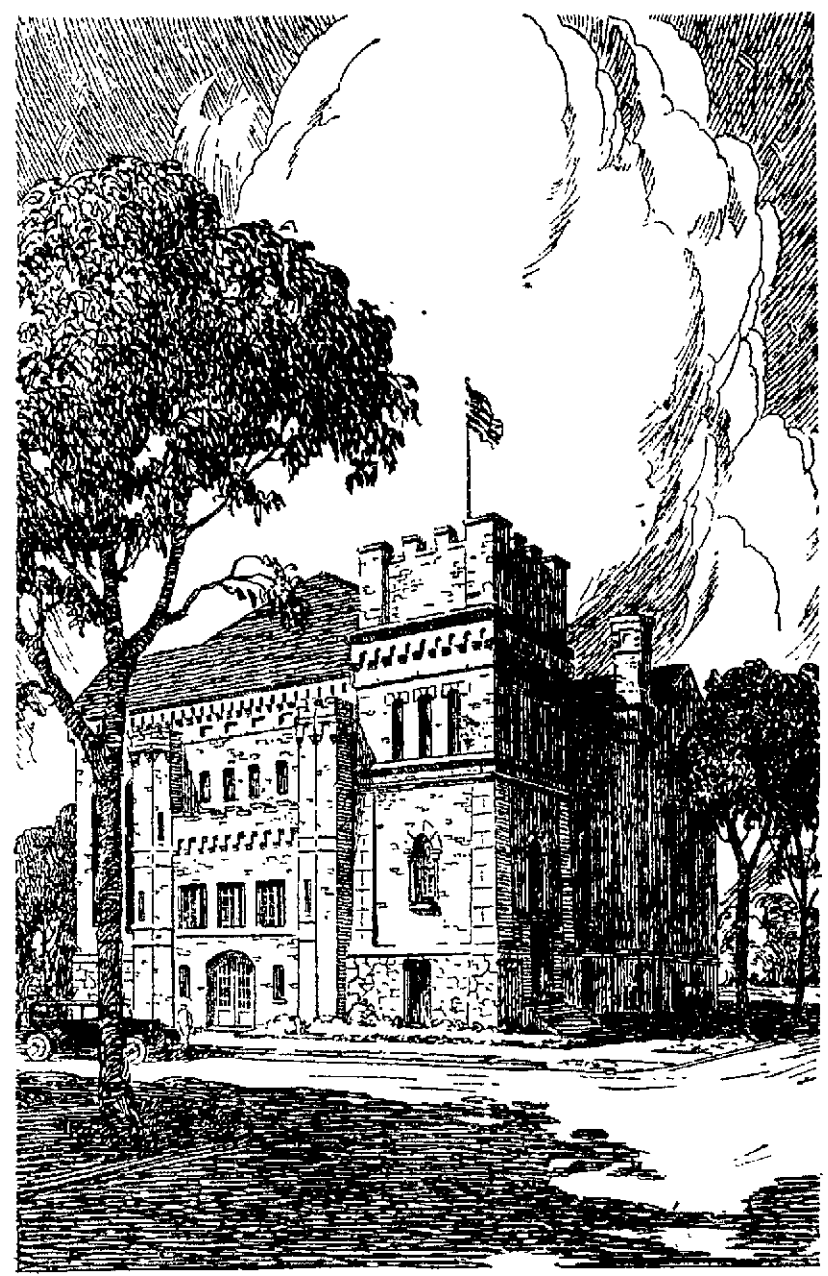

K. P. DEDICATION

Entering the building, the visitor finds club rooms on either side, and landing staircases leading to the lodge room. On the lower floor is a large dining hall and a kitchen, besides the clubroom. On the second floor is the lodge room with its organ and large rostrum at one end. The balcony of the old church has been rebuilt and now is a spectators gallery. Card rooms lead off from this part of the building.

The committee in charge of the open house for the community on Wednesday consists of W. F. McGowan, chairman, M. P. Barreau, Hugh Corbett, James A. Wood, W. F. Saecker, B. J. Zuehlke, W. H. Ryan, J. A. Engel, Dr. Charles Reineck, Hugh Pomeroy, Louis Wissman, A. H. Meyer, Louis Bonini, A. H. Krugmeier, R. E. Carnecross, Albert Langstadt, Charles Wilner and Dudley Pierce.

Committees for the banquet and ball Thursday evening are: Banquet—Claude Snider, chairman, Theodore Brunke, Walter Daman, David Hedberg, Mrs. George H. Schmidt and Mrs. W. F. McGowan, Ball—George R. Wetengel, chairman; J. K. Pratt, E. H. Harwood, John Hertel and Guy Markson.

Six committees have been appointed to arrange the dedication program for Pythians and their friends Friday night. The principal committee consists of A. A. Wetengel, chairman, John Diderich, Seymour Gmeiner, John Hettlinger, Clarence Zelle, William Eschner, Charles Maesch and George H. Schmidt. How To Quickly Stop Bad Coughs

It is often surprising how quickly the heaviest cough disappears when treated by a remarkable new method.

Here is the method, based on the famous Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals irritation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. So the severest cough soon disappears completely.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children, too—no harmful drugs. Very economical, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Don't Squeeze Blackheads —Dissolve Them

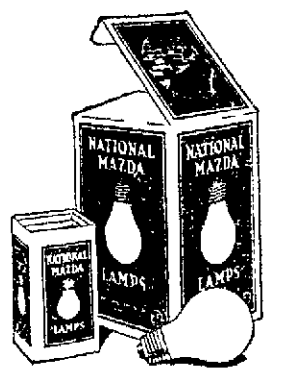

Squeezing out blackheads makes large, ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is to dissolve them. Get two ounces of Calomite powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and every one, big or little, will disappear at once.

TWO PLAYGROUND DIRECTORS ARE TO BE ENGAGED

Civic Improvement League Sponsors Supervised Play Activities Program

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—(P)—The Civic Improvement league at its meeting in Library hall on Monday evening, voted to engage playground supervisors for the children of the city during the coming summer. Two directors, a man for the boys, and a woman for the girls, will be employed. They will probably be engaged during the two months of July and August. The exact location of the recreation park in which they will work has not as yet been decided upon. The organization which is sponsoring the movement, the Civic Improvement league, expects the hearty cooperation of the other various civic clubs and associations of the city to help meet the expense of financing the project.

The remainder of the meeting was occupied by a special program by the Rev. and Mrs. H. P. Freeling and E. Louis Reuter. Mrs. Freeling recited the history of a number of our national songs, the Rev. Freeling sang stanzas of them and Mr. Reuter played an accompaniment on the piano.

The step taken by the league in hiring playground supervisors marks a new development in the progress of the city, as it is an idea which has never been tried here before, and is expected to meet with much enthusiasm from the general public.

A specimen program of the work, suggested on Monday evening, provides for three periods a day—8:45, 10:15 and 2 o'clock, and includes such recreation as calisthenics, swimming, baseball, playground ball, volleyball, track work, tennis, hiking and nature study.

The card party given by the American legion and auxiliary on Monday evening was largely attended. Five hundred and schafkopf were played. Ladies prizes at five hundred were taken by Mrs. William Dutler, and Miss Della Borst; men's prizes by Lucian Benult and Edward Vincent.

High prizes in schafkopf were taken by Mrs. P. W. La May and Melvin Wolfrath and the second prizes by Mrs. M. F. Abraham and Monty Boland. The card games were followed by a social dance.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Magadan are the parents of a son born Monday, Feb. 8.

Miss Grace Holtz who teaches the State Road school near Manawa was home over Sunday.

Mrs. Ray Thomas and Mrs. Luella Popke visited Mrs. Amanda Starks at the James Poppy home in Mukwa Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Starks has been very ill for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Ehrenreich and daughter Elaine, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Rogers and son Jay spent Sunday at the John Cousins home in the town of Liberty.

Two members of the high school faculty, the Misses Ione Halvorsen and Ann Lowe, are confined to their homes through illness.

Mrs. Matt Neeshitt fell on the stairs leading to her home in City man Monday and fractured her leg.

R. H. Kellner was called to Merrill the latter part of the week on account of the serious illness of his mother.

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The high school orchestra is preparing to enter the third annual district musical contest which will be held in Oshkosh on or about April 15. The local school will make several competitive entries, including a quartet of instruments, a trio, a cornet solo, a clarinet solo, a violin solo, a piano solo and a band selection. There will probably be glea club entries also.

Start taking it today. Rheuma acts at once on kidneys, liver, stomach and blood, and you can sincerely exclaim: "Good riddance to bad rubbish."

FOREST JUNCTION CAGERS CONQUER ASKEATON, 18-6

K. C. ARE HOSTS TO PROTESTANT CHURCH SOCIETY

Evangelical Church Elects Delegates to Coming Wisconsin Conference

Members of Outlook and Catholic Order Rub Elbows at Joint Banquet

Special to Post-Crescent
Forest Junction—The Rural Cagers, local basketball organized recently, emerged victoriously from their initial game of the season played against an Askeaton team at Askeaton Friday evening.

The locals had the lead almost from the very beginning, and when the end of the second half was reached, they had accumulated 18 points against 6 of their opponents. Alvin Wolfmeyer and Reuben Ott as forwards, Milton Seybold center, and Edwin Seybold and Raymond Schreier as guards constituted the lineup of the local team. Claude Thomas is the manager.

Encouraged by their victory, the cagers are hopefully looking forward to Thursday evening, when they meet the Brillion Boosters at the community hall here. With a spacious floor to play on, the contest promises to be of great interest. Two girls' teams, one local, the other from Brillion, will engage in a preliminary game on Thursday evening.

ELECT DELEGATE

Among other items of business transacted at the quarterly conference session at the local Evangelical church last Saturday afternoon, Manrow Schubring was elected as lay delegate to the annual session of the Wisconsin conference to be held at Milwaukee next May.

John Seybold was named candidate for lay delegate to the general conference which will be held at Wilkesport, Pa., next October. Candidates for this position are nominated by the various quarterly conferences, and the annual conference later selects the lay delegation from these candidates.

The Rev. C. F. Raabe of Appleton, presiding elder of the district, presided at the quarterly conference; the local pastor, the Rev. H. A. Franzke, was the secretary.

Cheese factories in this neighborhood expect to be liberally represented at the twelfth annual meeting of the Wisconsin Cheese Producers Federation at Plymouth on Wednesday and Thursday. Groups of farmers who deliver milk to the factories which are members of the federation, are planning to attend, and indications are that even cheesemakers will be granted a day of freedom to be present at the educational program which is always held in addition to the transaction of business.

PREPARE PROGRAMS

Appropriate patriotic programs will be held by the public schools here in commemoration of Lincoln's birthday on Friday afternoon. With St. Valentine's day falling on Sunday, arrangements are being made by the schools for valentine parties on Friday.

Mrs. John P. Otto was a caller at Appleton on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jansch of Dundas spent Friday evening at the Charles Jansch home.

Sanford Wolfmeyer of Manitowish spent the weekend with his parents.

Mrs. Reinhold Reim of Abrams was visiting with her mother, Mrs. Henry Schnell.

Word has been received by relatives and friends of Mrs. Fred V. Heinemann, who is traveling in the south, a journey she made across the Gulf of Mexico Saturday. Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Russell, also of Appleton, she crossed from New Orleans, La., to Tampa, Fla., on the steamship "Tampa."

It is based on one of Peter B. Kyne's best stories and affords unusual opportunities for the kind of action that makes one forget it's only a motion picture. The cast is headed by dainty Madge Bellamy and Kenneth Harlan, with Hobart Bosworth, Ann Pennington, and others of almost equal prominence in their support.

The story has to do with a "yellow streak" in Milt Mulford (Kenneth Harlan), who has just been graduated from West Point with high military honors. His father, Maj. Milton Mulford (Hobart Bosworth), is proud of his fighting ancestry and heartily ashamed of his son's cowardly streak. Young Milt loves the glamor of the uniform, but secretly has no craving for the dangers into which it may lead him. He recalls a sound licking administered to him by a foster brother when the two were small boys and although he hates himself for his weakness, he seems unable to overcome it. Then his brother to test his mettle, dares him to fight and backs up his dare by smacking his nose, whereupon Milt treats the whole community to a surprise and also fights his way out after he is disgraced by seeming cowardice in line of duty.

Movie fans in quest of things entertaining will find their haven today and tomorrow at the Elite theatre, where Robert T. Kane's initial production for First National release, "The New Commandment," is now showing.

Blanche Sweet, Ben Lyon, Holbrook Binn, Effie Shannon, Diana Kane, Dorothy Cummings, George Cooper, Pedro De Cordova and many others are seen at their best in the greatest screen acting of the decade in "The New Commandment."

"The New Commandment" is a society melodrama, full of thrills, romance, comedy, beauty, pathos and drama. It sparkles from reel to reel to a delightful conclusion.

Howard Higgin directed "The New Commandment" and in so doing has achieved new laurels for himself and the movie picture industry. Higgin, with Sada Cowan, wrote the screen adaptation of "The New Commandment" from Colonel Frederick Palmer's great novel, "Invisible Wounds."

"SOUL MATES" BASED ON POPULAR NOVEL

"Soul Mates," Jack Conway's new Metro-Goldwyn Mayer production, coming to the Elite Theatre Thursday and Friday, is based on "The Reason Why," Elmer Glyn's most popular novel since "Three Weeks." The story is laid in England, and deals with love between an English lord and the daughter of an English financier in Mme. Glyn's inimitable fashion. The story is an ardent romance, and in it the heroine, played by Aileen Pringle, is confronted with the question—should she let the man she loves marry her for her money? Edmund Lowe plays the male lead.

WHY YOU WILL LIKE "STAGE STRUCK"

In "Stage Struck" now showing at Fischer's Appleton Theatre Gloria Swanson returns to the roles that gained her her first great popularity. In a rather broad comedy as a waitress in a factory town restaurant, in love with the flap jack tosser who is employed in the same restaurant, and who is smitten with actresses so that in order to win his love, Gloria takes a correspondence lesson in acting, and thereby hangs the merry tale. The picture opens with a gorgeous drama sequence, done in colors, has a series of side-splitting incidents in the restaurant, and some rich comedy scenes on the floating palace on the Ohio River.

The McMain's Radio orchestra who caused such a furore on our vaudeville bill last week, have been held over with a complete program change, their engagement running until Friday.

One of Harold Lloyd's greatest comedies and one that shoved him along the road to success was "I Do." By popular demand this comedy has been re-issued and will be presented on this same program. Then there are selected bits from several novelty reels, showing a trip through the Grand Canyons in natural colors, the finding of a cub bear on a hunting trip and the comedy bits attendant upon his rearing, and news items showing the return of Rudolph Valentino to America, the horseback jaunts of Senator Borah, sleigh races in Germany and many other interesting and educational features.

Legion Service Officers Learn
How Government Department
Function

Listening to addresses by state service and welfare officers and visits through the Veterans National home and the United States Veterans bureau office, occupied the time of delegates at the state convention of post service officers Saturday and Sunday in Milwaukee. Alfred C. Bosser, service officer of Oney Johnston, vice officer and Harvey Pribe, welfare chairman of Oney Johnston post attended the sessions.

Colonel Charles M. Pearsall, head of the national veterans home in Milwaukee headed the tour of inspection through the home, and told how any former service man can obtain free treatment and medical attention at the hospital by presenting his honorable discharge to the authorities.

Samuel B. Carr, chairman of the department of child welfare urged that orphan or destitute children of service men be reported to the state department so that proper homes can be found for them.

H. A. Nelson, chief of the rehabilitation division of the United States Veterans bureau, speaking on vocational training said that 3,800 former service men had applied to the bureau for this training. Positions were found for 1,200 men. Mr. Nelson urged legionnaires to be constantly on the lookout for vacant positions and report them to aid in the work of giving employment to former soldiers. It is hoped that employers, when they have positions open in their establishments will communicate with the service officers of the local post, and that they in turn will notify the state department.

The trip through the United States Veterans bureau was made under the guidance of R. L. Jernigan regional manager of the bureau. Here the service men were shown how the claims for compensation were taken care of and how the bureau operates its post-office, and its medical clinic.

One of the interesting trips arranged for the convention delegates was an inspection tour of the new plant of the Milwaukee Journal.

Plans for a benefit movie during the latter part of next month also were made. It was announced that the club has charge of the regular Sunday afternoon program of the boys' division on March 7. The basketball team will play the Cardinal club team Saturday afternoon to decide first place in the interclub league. The squads are tied for the top position.

EARN BIGGEST REWARD BY SERVING OTHERS

The problem of wealth will be solved when wealthy men will come to a realization that they must give service not for hope of reward, but service for the sake of service. J. L. Johns lieutenant governor of Wisconsin clubs in Wisconsin, declared in an address on Service, The Universal Law of Nature, before Appleton Lions club Monday noon. Mr. Johns declared that service to others is the most worthwhile thing that man can do and he predicted a growth in the realization of the value of service in each succeeding generation.

For Head Colds

THERE are many ways to treat a cold in the head, but only one DIRECT way, and that is with vapors that can be inhaled.

The easiest and most satisfying way to get these vapors is to sniff a little Vicks VapoRub well up the nose, or melt a little in a spoon or tin cup and inhale.

The medicated vapors reach immediately into every corner of the air passages, soothing and healing with every breath.

For other forms of cold troubles just rub Vicks over the throat and chest at bedtime. It is then the body heat which releases these vapors.

New! Standard Control and Standard Gear Shift Plus—Split-Second Braking

Reo pioneered the change from right hand steering—making for quicker progress through traffic and greater safety

The New and Improved Reo provides standard gear shift, and the simple braking control system that is standard on other fine cars PLUS Split-Second brake application that means real driving comfort, rapid progress, and safety in today's traffic.

Three-fifths of a second gained in setting your brakes when driving 25 miles per hour means a saving of 21 feet 6 inches in stopping. That is why automotive engineers for years have sought better methods of setting brakes.

Only the New Reo has this
Never before has anyone produced a car providing standard gear shift and a brake control that provides the familiar handling of standard control (service brake on foot pedal, hand lever on emergency) plus greatly increased speed and ease in setting brakes.

In short, the New Reo provides braking control no other car has and the type of standard controls that all other cars have.

The fourth great advance

This is the fourth great advance in making driving easier and safer that Reo has pioneered for the motor car industry.

Reo first led the way to greater safety and quicker progress through traffic by pioneering the left-hand drive.

Next it pioneered the direct center-control—taking the control levers off the side of the car and putting them into the front compartment

A few years ago Reo pioneered the nationwide use of balloon tires—again providing better braking and easier control in traffic.

A glance at the stream of passing cars will show you how universally the basic things which Reo pioneers are adopted eventually by the motor car industry.

For some time to come, however, only the New Reo will have Split-Second Braking together with Standard Control, now offered to the public for the first time.

Come in and see this fourth great advance—in the New Reo Sedan described at the right.

Reo pioneered the change from outside levers to direct center control to make driving in traffic easier

Reo's front compartment is uncluttered, yet THIS new and improved REO offers Split-Second Braking with Standard Control and Standard gear shift

Come in and see this New Sedan

No printed picture can reproduce the lines and appointments of this New and Improved Reo Sedan.

Printed words can give you only a scant outline of its merits and distinction:

Standard gear Shift—
New Standard Control Plus
Split-Second Braking—
Lengthened lines—
Soundless 6 ground cylinder motor—

Many minor refinements and improvements enhancing beauty, comfort and dependability.

And the same long-life, far outlasting its honest speedometer, so characteristic of every Reo.

Come in and see it.

Why women like the New Reo
Its Split-Second Braking AND Standard Control make driving easier and safer.

Its wider, deeper fenders accentuate the lengthened lines of the deep cowl, long hood and graceful body.

It offers an exceptionally wide range of color selection—Gulfstream Blue, and Cuban Gray Simple finish, two-tone Hydro Blue and Radio Blue, and a number of others.

Like all Reos, it rides rough places gently, and has deeply cushioned seats that enable you to relax while driving.

Come in and see it.

Papa Wants "His" Pipe, None Other

BY CYNTHIA GREY

Be it ever so homely, there's no face like your own, a certain classicist once rose to remark.

By the same token, bridey, be it ever so smelly, there's no pipe like HIS own, and the sooner you learn it, the better.

We hope that a word to ye faire and ye wise is sufficient!

To be sure, that pipe of his may not be redolent of beds of asphodel and fields of budding clover.

It may not have that haunting aroma of Chypre, N'Aimez Que Moi, Colgate, and the smell he loves to kiss on your ear lobes, put there by a silver stopper.

That old pipe may not whisper of burgeoning apple orchards of the spring and a rosy-posy by the river's brink—

But, begad, it's His Pipe—the pipe he loves to taste, the pipe he loves to touch, the pipe he loves to smoke, by golly!

And I say unto you bridy, that a pipe by any other name will not smell as sweet — to him!

You may buy him silver and gold trimmed pipes, diamond etched pipes, pipes cut from the orange groves of the west, pipes cut from the spicy groves of the east—

You may buy him cute pipes and sweet pipes and ravishingly chic pipes just like the ones Rudy Valentino, and John Barrymore and Michael Arlen smoke, but if it isn't his pipe, he'll say—

"Away! Vamoose! Hie thee hence, wanton bussy of a pipe! Papa wants his own it's smokestack!"

No, bridey, just put this in your supphired pipe and smoke it.

Cynthia's said a pipeful, and please don't forget it!

New York—Where are the stars of yesteryear?

Echo answers not, but here are the stars of the future.

These four young women, with two years to go before they leave their teens are to be stars by 1928, according to Ned Wayburn, producer of reviews and groomer and trainer of our musical comedy stars.

How come?

Well, they answer the requirements of the American taste. They are typical American girls, with that particular appeal which makes the American public wax in their hands.

They are vivacious. They have delicacy. They cannot only dance, sing, and be alluring behind the footlights, they can swim, ride, converse intelligently on current topics of interest.

And they know how to conduct themselves in society, how to wear clothes, and how to keep their schoolgirl complexions.

There was a time when a girl for the chorus was chosen for her legs—or for her figure—or for her profile—or her face.

Today's star must have everything and present a perfect ensemble.

Out of 1500 applicants, Wayburn selected these girls as those most nearly filling the bill.

And though they are unknown to fame at the present time, they are pets of fortune. They will have ent in "The Maiden Voyage," and is a bit her first trip.

Incidentally, her name is Beryl Van Horn, which is news. She's from Philadelphia.

Mary Horan, the intriguing beauty in the upper left hand corner, a Cleveland girl, is a brunette of a less violent order than Irene Bordoni, but equally potent.

The only blonde in the group is Olive Brady, at the right. But, as you know, one perfect blonde can out-manuever a dozen brunettes. And Miss Brady is expected to uphold the honors of her light-haired sisterhood without any trouble.

Below you see Virginia Bacon, a niece of the late Frank Bacon of "Lightnin'" fame.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

Breakfast — Orange juice, cereal cooked with prunes, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, creamed potatoes, cornbread, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Ragout of celery, orange pudding, molasses cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Rolled breast of veal, buttered spinach, cabbage and grapefruit salad, whole wheat rolls, Indian suet pudding, milk, coffee.

The dinner menu is one of those dishes that require more time than money but is worth the time. It may be said but nevertheless true that we can't conjure a meal out of thin air. However, if we can spend a few extra "minutes" in the kitchen some days we can spare our ever-tiring purses.

ROLLED BREAST OF VEAL.

Four pounds breast of veal, 3-4 pound sausage meat, 2-4 cup rice, 1 tablespoon grated cheese, 2 cups stock, 1 large onion, 1 carrot, 1 small turnip, parsley, thyme, bayleaf, peppercorn, salt and pepper.

Remove bones and tendons from veal and trim neatly. Season with salt and pepper, spread with sausage meat, roll tightly and bind with string. Put bones and trimmings from meat into a kettle. Add vegetables in dice, herbs, salt and pepper. Put roll of meat on top and add water to cover vegetables. Cover kettle closely and simmer for two hours. Baste meat frequently and add water as necessary. Remove roll of meat and strain stock. There should be 3 cups. Boil rice in salted water for 15 minutes. Drain and add to boiling stock. Add meat and simmer for 45 minutes over a low fire. Take up meat and remove string. Stir cheese into rice and arrange in a border on a hot platter. Place meat in the center and serve.

WEAR JACKET TO KEEP NECKS WARM AT NIGHT

Bed jackets have returned to favor with the vogue for shingling the hair. The reason is not far to seek. Women find that draughts penetrate to the back of their necks when they have no protecting hair, and a bed jacket cut high at the throat makes them secure from cold. Most of the sleeping jackets are made of shetland wool lace, a charming model being double and in contrasting colors, as, for instance, a blue and white stripe over a pink and white, or a pale mauve and white over a deeper mauve and blue, with ribbon ties. In the two shades. Sometimes the single Shetland wool is lined with a colored georgette, which is turned back to form revers edged with riched ribbon.

ATTRACTIVE DESIGNS

Very attractive is a little coat of white fancy knitting bordered with a band of plain knitting, which is edged with pink or blue silk crochet and decorated with little embroidered wreaths of differently hued flowers at intervals. Another smart sleeping jacket is knitted with strips of alternate white and rainbow wool, and edged with white marabou.

One of the most luxurious reading jackets is made of black or colored panne velvet lined throughout with white fur. It is reversible, so that it can be worn with the fur outside. Very beautiful also is a reading jacket of double crepe de chine in white, or pale blue, or pink interlined with cotton wool and quilted in a very original way by means of a design of scattered posies of flowers. Batik silk in shades of orange and yellow with touches of black makes a picturesque little coat with white fur at the neck.

EXTRA WARMTH

In making a jacket to some special fancy of the wearer it is a very good plan to have it interlined with cotton wool for extra warmth.

Dainty little sleeping coats can be evolved from a short length of thick crepe de chine folded in half and cut up the center, and then caught under the arms after the edges have been finished with a row of Valenciennes lace, ruffled ribbon or marabou.

SILK DUSTER

Old silk, crumpled into the form of a rosette and fastened to a long rod, makes an ideal duster. It is especially good to dust pictures, moldings and freshly waxed floors.

EGG YOLKS

When egg yolks are left over, they should be covered with sweet milk and set in the ice box. Without the milk, they will dry and harden.

Adventures Of The Twins

Poor Mister Havalook's Collar

"Where can we get fish-hooks to go fishing in the laundry pool?" asked poor Mister Havalook.

"Pins will do," said Nick. "I've used them lots of times."

"But where shall we get pins?" asked Nancy. "I didn't bring a single one along."

"Oh, I have loads," said fat Mrs. Jiggs, turning her back.

Everybody laughed, for Mrs. Jiggs had enough pins in her apron and dress to start a pin factory.

"Don't tell anyone," she said, "but I have on three dresses, two petticoats and an apron. It took every pin the Pincushion Doll owned to get me together before I came."

"Now for bait," said Nick. "What shall we do for bait?"

"Oh, ho, ho, ho!" shouted all the Hidy Go Land people. "We don't need bait to fish for handkerchiefs in a laundry drain."

"That's so," laughed Nick. "I forgot. Now you lead the way, Miss Raggedy ana we'll follow."

"It's a nice clean drain," explained the Rag Doll. "Laundry water, which is a perfectly beautiful blue, and reminds one of the sky."

"Won't we find any cheese," asked the policeman rat who always seemed to be hungry.

"I don't think so," said Raggedy. "I never saw any. Only water bugs."

"Who wants water bugs?" sniffed the rat. "Here, Mister Sniff Whisker. Here's my badge. I resign right now! I'm going back to Ash Can Town and live in peace."

"We think the same way," cried all the other rats. "We all resign. We were sure there was some cheese at the bottom of this business and now that there isn't we all quit here and now."

And off they marched, taking their tales with them.

"Good riddance," said Sniff Whisker. "I'll stay, however, as I hear that sometimes laundry soap or starch float down the drain. And I do love starch. It tastes like tapioca pudding."

One by one the dolls went through the dark tunnel, followed by Nancy and Nick and Mister Havalook.

When they came out on the other side, the sun was shining and there was a big beautiful blue lake, just as the Rag Doll had said. Blue with sunny waves all over it that looked like white caps on the sea.

"Yet's sit around the edge in a row," said Belinda.

"Yes, let's," said Calamity Jane. "Perhaps I can catch something that would make me a dress. I'm tired of going around without a stitch to my name. And now that I have two arms and two legs and two eyes, I

MAKE DAINTY SUMMER UNDIES IN WINTERTIME

Cold winter evenings can be made enjoyable and profitable by sewing on the many dainty things which we all need and must have.

Dainty lingerie may be made as cheap as inexpensive as one desires—or can be almost priceless, according to the materials.

But the expense is not what determines the beauty. Dainty gowns and combinations made of colored voile trimmed merely with hemstitching or bands of other color can not be excelled in attractiveness. Material can be purchased for about $1.

The woman with little time at her disposal need not make the entire garment. She can buy a ready made tailored model of crepe de chine, or fine batiste and trim it herself. This cuts the expense considerably.

LACY LINGERIE

Some of the loveliest French lingerie is trimmed with an edge of footling, and this lace edge may be added most effectively to plain models.

Then with a cluster of French flowers, a saucy bow, or possibly a monogram, the garment becomes distinctive and much more lovely.

A combination outfit of apricot colored voile with scalloped edges bound with turquoise blue voile is very pretty. The gown may have a cunning sash of blue ribbon running through embroidered slits at the waistline.

Very French lingerie can be made of two layers of georgette or chiffon in different colors to give an opalescent, changeable effect. These are bound with ribbon or given an edge of lace.

CHOOSE ANY COLOR

All colors are used, Nile green and lavender being particularly featured as a change from the almost inevitable pink and orchid shades.

Black georgette crepe undergarments, lace trimmed, are very appropriate for the woman who wears black a great deal, but there is no more intriguing combination than white georgette crepe and black Chantilly lace.

should like to be covered. Perhaps the odds and ends I am made of won't show so much then."

"All ready. Throw in your lines," said Nick.

So Belinda and Calamity Jane and Miss Pithers and Mrs. Jiggs and Black Dinah and Teddy and Limber Long Legs and Sailor Sam and the Gingerbread Man all threw in their lines. So did poor Mister Havalook and the Twins.

"I've got a bite," cried Limber Long Legs, pulling up his line.

"What in the world can it be?" Mister Havalook looked astonished.

"It's one of my collars that didn't like white caps on the sea," he said.

Let Tanlac restore your health

If your body is all fagged-out and run down, if you are losing weight steadily, lack appetite, have no strength or energy—why not let Tanlac help you back to health and strength?

So many millions have been benefited by the Tanlac treatment, so many thousands have written to testify to that effect that it's sheer folly not to make the test.

Tanlac, you know, is a great natural tonic and builder, a compound, after the famous Tanlac formula, of roots, barks and herbs. It purges the blood stream, revitalizes the digestive organs and enables the sickly body to regain its vanished weight.

You don't need to wait long to get results. Tanlac goes right to the seat of trouble. In a day or so you note a vast difference in your condition. You have more appetite, sleep better at night and the color begins to creep back into your washed-out cheeks.

Don't put off taking Tanlac another precious day. Step into the nearest drug store and get a bottle of this world-famed tonic. That's the first important step back to health and vigor. Every day's delay means unnecessary suffering, for Tanlac starts to clean out and tone up the system right away. And by acting promptly you will avoid further loss of energy

COUNTY T. B. REACTORS NOW TOTAL 3.5 PER CENT

SECOND WEEK OF AREA TEST SEES GAIN IN RATIO

Number of Animals Reacting to Tuberculin Increases Nearly .4 Per Cent

The report for the second week's work of federal-state veterinarians engaged in the countywide test for bovine tuberculosis, reveals that 3.5 per cent of the cattle even larger percentage than the first week reacted to the tuberculin test. Only 3.11 per cent were reactors the first week. The percentage is high but it is not considered the average for the entire county. The first work is being done in the northern part of the county where the eradication of bovine tuberculosis has not been so active as in most of the southern towns. Thus far Outagamie-co has a much higher percentage of reactors than Shawano-co where the figures show about 2.20 per cent.

The second week's testing in the county shows 139 reactors of 3,310 animals tested, as compared to 84 out of 2,614, the initial six days. In all, 174 herds were tested and of this number 50 were infected compared with 170 herds inspected and 51 infected herds the week before. This is a betterment as the fewer infected herds the less total infection. Every herd infected is likely to have more than a single head of cattle on the list. As was the case last week, the percentage of reactors was forced up by the large number of infected cows in one herd.

Inspecting chickens for avian tuberculosis goes on at the same time as the cows are tested for bovine tuberculosis. A total of 154 flocks containing 8,750 chickens were inspected this week.

In both weeks 214 herds of cattle containing 6,527 head were inspected and 223 reactors were found in the number. Infected herds total 101 and infected cattle 2,245. A total of 301 flocks containing 18,555 chickens were inspected.

DARBOY CHEESE FACTORY BUSY

Patrons of the Darboy Cheese factory received a total of $40,501.76 during the year, according to the annual report of the factory. J. F. Hoelzel is president, Hugo Wittman, secretary, Dan Wallace, treasurer, and Alois M. Drueck, cheesemaker.

During the year the factory received a total of 2,141,177 pounds of milk, or 76,532 pounds of butterfat, and from this made 204,962 pounds of cheese. The average yield was 10.45 pounds of milk per pound of cheese, and the average test was 3.54 per cent.

The average price for cheese was 21.71 cents a pound, and that for milk 1.565 per 100 pounds. The factory took in $41,562.54 for cheese, $25,515.51 for cream and $259.93 in patrons' cheese. Patrons took a total of 1,299 pounds of the manufactured product.

This pointed out in the monthly report of John Doherty, secretary, and C. O. Borg, official tester. The highest producing cow during the month was a grade Brown Swiss owned by Ed. Roesler. It produced 1,822 pounds of milk, testing at 3.7 per cent, and 67.4 pounds of butterfat. The herd of Alvin Handschke, with an average test of 4.2 per cent, and an average of 43.7 pounds of butterfat, was the highest on group record.

GREENVILLE MAN ON COMMITTEE FOR STOCK SHOW

Theodore A. Schmit to Represent County at Exposition in Madison

Outagamie-co is one of the more than a score of counties to be represented by leaders on the committee of, or by exhibitors in the Little International live stock exposition, to be held in the University livestock pavilion, Madison, Feb. 13. Theodore A. Schmit, Greenville, who is attending the college of agriculture has been appointed to the committee in charge of swine.

Carl A. Rott, Jimcau-co, is manager of the coming event and has been responsible for choosing the various committees who have volunteered their services to assist in promoting the annual classic.

The Little International, patterned after the greatest of all livestock shows, the International Live Stock exposition held each year at Chicago, will be duplicated in miniature. When slick coated, well groomed live stock parade in the university stock pavilion to the tune of spirited music furnished by the east side high school band, Madison.

Every livestock department, including dairy and beef cattle, horses, sheep and swine, will be represented under the supervision of a separate chairman working in cooperation with Rott. Showmanship and fitting for the ring are the scores on which the contestants will be awarded silver loving cups, ribbons, and other valuable prizes that have been offered for the occasion.

The annual horse show has been scheduled to take place as an evening event. At this time riding, feats, jumping events, and general showmanship in handling horses will furnish the "windup" feature of the exposition. During the evening performance, ribbons and prizes will be awarded to the worthy exhibitors, and a grand parade of all show animals will be staged.

According to Rott, the coming event which is sponsored by the Saddle and Siroin club, the largest agricultural campus organization, is the biggest event on the agricultural campus. Through the cooperation of students and staff members of the college the show promises to be the best ever and is expected to be well attended by state and out-of-state live stock enthusiasts.

Holstein Leads Cicero-Black Creek Association With 66.6 Pounds Butterfat

The January report of the Cicero-Black Creek Cow Testing association shows that 28 cows of the 406 tested had a production of more than 40 pounds of butterfat, thus giving the association an average of 21.5 pounds, according to Stuart Lambie, official tester.

SEEK MEAT'S QUALITY SOURCE

Twenty-nine States Unite to Determine What Makes It Palatable

Chicago—Twenty-nine state agricultural experiment stations are cooperating to learn what makes quality and palatability in meat.

Their discoveries are expected to play an important part in the future breeding of livestock.

The experimental program is being undertaken under the auspices of the National Live Stock and Meat board, of which Dean F. B. Mumford of the University of Missouri is chairman. It has the approval of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, agricultural colleges, the American Society of Animal Production and the directors of various experiment stations.

No one experiment station is expected to attempt a solution of the problem, says Mumford, but each will take up some phase in which it is especially interested. Subjects for investigation include feeding, breeding, methods of slaughtering and curing, methods of cooking and others.

The fundamental problem in this study, it is pointed out, is the search for a standard of measurement for quality and palatability. For on this depend the findings on the other questions.

POLICE DOG'S REPUTE AS SLEUTH IN DOUBT

Berlin—(AP)—Konrad Most, of the Union of Shepard Dog Owners of Eisenach, declares the German police dog would never attain the results it does if deprived of the officer leading it. He cited 48 tests before police authorities and scientific experts in which the dogs failed in their tasks when their leaders were absent. Realization of the dog's ultimate inadequacy in this respect led the German army command to interdict its further employment during war.

The Home Hot Blast Furnace

Back to Our Cozy Home

Oh! How Cozy!" ejaculated Mrs. Comfort, as she and her husband stepped out of the February storm.

The atmosphere in their living room was like a June evening.

"Yes, indeed!" echoed Mr. Comfort with conviction. "I nearly froze at Smith's tonight; wonder what's the matter with his furnace."

"I noticed it was cold," echoed Mrs. Comfort; "several times I wished for my furs."

"You remember, John; Smith thought we were foolish when we put in our HOME last Summer, just because the old one wouldn't warm the coldest corners. But I really think one evening's cozy comfort a night like tonight is worth all the difference. I guess Mrs. Smith thinks so, too, now—poor dear."

"And we're keeping cozy on so much less fuel than our HOME will soon pay for itself," echoed Mr. Comfort with satisfaction.

Thousands of satisfied HOME users the country over are voicing sentiments like the above.

If you are enjoying cold comfort this Winter, or if you burn as much as a ton of coal per room per year, you can save money with a dependable, durable, efficient, easy running HOME Furnace. Better investigate.

"I wish to compliment you on your splendid furnace. During the past two years I have had only HOME Furnaces installed. Your installation cannot be praised too highly and your furnace gives the best of satisfaction. I have one in my own home and I never hesitate to recommend a HOME Furnace."

$50,000 WILL BE SPENT ON PHONE LINES

Wisconsin Telephone Company Contemplates Big Improvement in Facilities

Two large cable construction projects to cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 will be completed this year in Appleton by the Wisconsin Telephone Co., according to an announcement by H. M. Fellows, local manager. The purpose of the improvements is to replace twisted wire circuits or overhead wires with cable lines, replace sections of existing cables which are too small to take care of demands for service, and to provide facilities for future growth of the company.

The first of these projects is the extension of cable service on local lines. Work will be started within the next few days. The estimated cost is $38,000. The work involves the placing of nine miles of aerial cables, varying in size from 26 to 40 pairs of wires, and one quarter of a mile of submarine cables varying in size from 202 to 404 pairs of wires. The erection of 73 new poles is specified.

The largest cables lines are those nearest to the exchange, and these contain many hundred pairs of wires. The cable becomes smaller as it extends toward the outskirts of the city.

Work on this project which includes a few of the smaller exchanges in the immediate vicinity of Appleton will be completed in May according to present plans. The underground cable work will be in the upper Fourth ward. The new poles will be erected in various sections of the city, and its immediate vicinity. Some of the present cable lines in the city are far too small to provide the proper facilities for the service the company is called upon to render. It is also the desire of local officials to eliminate as many twisted wire circuits, and overhead wires as possible by condensing all the service lines into a cable.

The second project is an improvement in the company's toll lines which will cost in the neighborhood of $12,000. It is expected that this work will start in April and be completed in June. One of the principal local improvements resulting from this undertaking will be the removal of some 44 poles on W. College-ave, W. Washington-st and on the alley immediately north of W. College-ave. The present toll line running from the exchange east on W. Washington-st, along the alley north of the avenue to W. Richmond-st, and from there along W. College-ave to Store-#2 will be removed and replaced with a toll cable.

Wherever possible the telephone cables and lines are strung on poles of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co., and the traction company lines are in turn placed on the telephone company poles to minimize the number of poles erected. This policy of running the lines of the two concerns along the same set of poles has been practiced for several years.

The proposed toll line project calls for the erection of seven poles, 2,200 feet of composite cable, 2,150 feet of exchange cable and 1,850 feet of duplex cable. Thirty-three miles of copper toll line wire and 2,450 feet of exchange cable will be removed. The work is necessary to provide suitable cable entrance for important toll lines entering the city, to provide exchange cables in the territory, and to properly take care of the present lines, and provide reasonable facilities for additional business.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or two of Blaud's Magnesia with a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Blaud's Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful antacid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and without the slightest pain or discomfort. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Blaud's Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

WANT CHILDREN TO HEAR LECTURE

Noted Bird Imitator Will Give Program in Lawrence Conservatory

School children especially are invited to hear Charles Crawford Gorst give his lecture on birds and bird-lore, with his imitations and reproductions of bird-notes, Tuesday evening, Feb. 16, at Lawrence conservatory. The lecture is sponsored by Appleton Women's club.

This is the last number of the club series and the only one for which special arrangements have been made for children. For this reason the lecture will start at 7:15 instead of 8:15. Information about rates and plans for the pupils may be had from Mrs. George Wetzel or Mrs. Elmer Jennings, in charge of student tickets.

Mr. Gorst illustrates his lecture with paintings done by himself, after studying under a noted Boston artist. The enlarged views of the various birds in their full coloring are brilliantly lighted by electric flood light.

A recognized authority on birds and bird-lore, Mr. Gorst is probably the most versatile imitator of birds in America. The lecture will be educational and entertaining, combining music, narrative, description, poetry, and philosophy.

The True story of a girl who wanted thrills!

MARION had every advantage fond parents could give her—yet she was desperately unhappy. A feverish desire to escape the commonplace routine of home possessed her. She longed to spread her untied wings and fly away. She dreamed of a life of new, strange pleasures; of romantic adventure; of an existence crowded with excitement and thrills. And the dream came true—but it also brought a bitter awakening.

Chance took her to Paris where, without experience, knowing nothing of the world and its countless pitfalls and temptations—she suddenly found herself an almost helpless prey of forces grimly determined to bring about her downfall.

What Marion went through in the gay French Capital is a powerful, heart-gripping drama—all the more convincing because it is true.

Young people who believe they are being cheated of life's pleasures—who long for adventure, romance and excitement—will read here a warning they cannot help but heed.

Marion's story, entitled "I Wanted Thrills," appears complete in True Story Magazine for March. And this is only one of the many absorbing true life narratives that appear in this issue of America's most widely-read magazine.

Other Gripping Stories in the March True Story Are:

"Dark Ways"—The power of evil is vividly illustrated in this pitiful story of a girl compelled by fate to match her innocence and inexperience against a wicked and powerful man. A story every girl should read.

"The Secret of Her Past"—When he married her after a whirlwind courtship, he was the happiest man in the world. Intoxicated by her beauty, he had never questioned who or what she had been before he met her. But when suspicion entered—read what happened. "Should a woman tell her husband everything?"

"The Evil-Doer"—In every city and village are highly respected men who have opportunities to do evil that, if exercised, would mean the eternal ruin of "sentimental" wives and innocent daughters everywhere. This tragic story will give you something to think about.

Powerful Sermons In True Story Form

Just as the minister seeks to guide his people into the ways of righteous living and happiness—so True Story Magazine, through its true-life chronicles, sends out its message of hope, inspiration and encouragement to the millions of readers who make up its vast audience.

By revealing the mistakes, follies, and tragedies of others—as well as the glad triumphs of right over wrong, True Story serves as guide, counselor, and inspiration to hundreds of thousands.

TOWN SUNDAY HOUSES TEXAS FARMER RESORT

Fredericksburg, Tex.—(P)—“Sunday Houses,” tiny dwellings, clustered mostly around the churches of this little German town in the hills of southwest Texas, have solved for many ranchmen and farmers the problem of week-end trips to town for shopping, trading and attending church.

The first of them was erected about 20 years ago and the idea was so well received that there now are about 100 in use. Usually the “Sunday House” consists of one or two small rooms on the ground floor and the same number on a second floor.

A few of them contain cooking utensils. The owners bring enough food to last them from Saturday until Monday morning, thus giving the women freedom from cooking and saving the expense of stocking two kitchens.

Fredericksburg, with a population of 4,000, is unincorporated and the owners of Sunday Houses have only to pay county and state tax rates on their establishments.

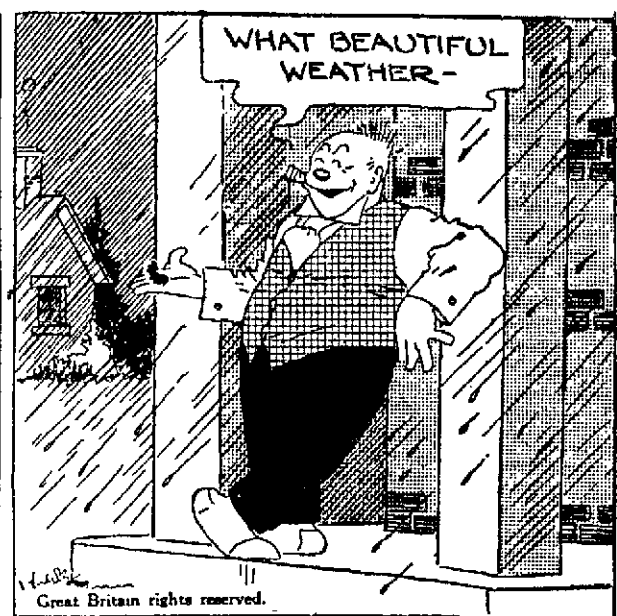

These homes have had a marked influence for good on the social and community life of the country, according to George D. Barber, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Walsh Is Following Golf Tournays For Experience

Frank Walsh, Butte des Morts golf club professional, is touring the country, participating in golf matches as he goes, at the advice of Walter Hagen, who has gained experience, according to Billy Sixty, who discussed Walsh's trip at some length in the Sunday Milwaukee Journal. The trip, according to Sixty, was suggested by Hagen during his visit here last fall. Sixty has this to say about Walsh:

No doubt many Wisconsin golf fans have wondered what suddenly inspired Frank Walsh to play "cap frog" across the continent, competing in all the major professional tournaments.

From Appleton, where he is instructor at the Butte des Morts Country club, he jumped to Chicago for the national pro meet last October, near the end of the regular Wisconsin golf season.

He returned to finish out the year at Appleton and when snow blanketed our courses he began an itinerary that has taken him to Los Angeles, to Long Beach, Calif., to Dallas, Texas, over to Fort Worth, Tex.; onward to Florida and now to Hot Springs, Ark.

"And he will go on, into more meets, ere he comes back to teach the good folk of Butte des Morts the gentle, but intricate game of books and slices."

"One after another Walsh is trailing these big meets, mingling with the headlines."

MacDonald Smith, Bobby Cruickshank, Harry Cooper, Bill Mehlhorn, Al Espinosa, Walter Hagen, Joe Kirkwood and others who chase the elusive dollar these days.

It was not simply a case of "wanderlust" with Walsh, nor was it the lure of rich purses that prompted his swing 'round the country. Only after thoroughly considering the trip did he decide to take it.

Walter Hagen gave him the idea. Following an exhibition match last fall at Butte des Morts in which Hagen paired with me against Walsh and Ken Dickinson, state amateur champion, we were testing in the locker room listening to Hagen's friendly criticisms concerning the course. It is part of his exhibition matches to offer helpful suggestions about the links he plays on and tips are always gladly received.

"Hagen had been impressed by Walsh's golf that day and several times on the way 'round he remarked to me that the Appleton pro had everything one possibly needed to make a success of the game: physique, a rhythmic, compact stroke, excellent control—everything but a tournament temperament. And that, of course, he could attain only by getting into competition."

"You've got a balanced game, and I mean by that that you drive well, control your irons and play your short shots compactly," mentioned Hagen. "What you need to do to reach the top is practice long and hard, especially on the greens, and then take in all the tournaments you possibly can without, of course, interfering with your duties at the club."

"My advice to all golfers, professional and amateur alike, is to get into competition, mingle with the stars, play just every time you go out on the course. There are thousands of golfers today, all fine shot-makers, who need only the polish to be had from competition to lift them alongside the champions. After all, EXPERIENCE is the biggest factor in the game."

This was choice golf food, dished out by a man who was but an unchivalrously assisted in creating interest in the super-batter by dizzing up new and unusual titles for the Babe.

First some one shifted from Babe to Bambino. According to my expert foreign interpreter Bambino means Babe in Italian. But certainly there is more color and an air of mystery to Bambino than mere Babe. "King of Swat," while not entirely new, surely fits the Bambino. "New along came some one with a little more of the highbrow stuff by calling him the 'Colossus of Swat.' I am sure that one was coined in Boston."

Scores of other freak titles were handed the Babe by writers and all of them did their bit in making Ruth the most advertised ball player in the history of the game.

CONCRETE EXAMPLES
When Tex Rickard signed Dempsey and Carpentier, he realized that a lot of fancy English would have to be spilled in order to make the public fall strong.

There was never a greater "ballyhoo" than the Frenchman-Dempsey affair. The Frenchman, with his fine war record, was, of course, the colorful athlete of the two and most of the descriptive adjectives were handed him.

"Gorgeous Georges," the "Orchid Man" and many other flowery titles were applied to the French fighter in building up interest in the event. It succeeded beyond Rickard's wildest expectations.

No one thing helped make Angel Furpo more than the expression the "Wild Bull of the Pampas." There was plenty of color back of that one.

When Battling Siki came to this country and put on several of his wild escapades, one of which finally resulted in his death, a Gotham scribe in describing Siki and his eccentricities, referred to him always as the "Singular Sengalese."

The "Singular Sengalese" in two words told the whole story of Battling Siki.

The Four Horsemen of Notre Dame was another oft-used phrase. It referred to the backfield of the Notre Dame team of 1921. It made both players and team famous. It was one of the best ever coined.

Inquestionably the old "ballyhoo" has made a big success of many a sporting event that would have otherwise been a flop.

IMPORTANT ASSETS
Just about the time that Christy Mathewson was at the top of his career in baseball the six-cylinder automobile came to the front. Some one called Matty "Big Six" in describing one of his fine pitching exhibitions, remarked that he was hitting on every cylinder throughout the game.

The term "Big Six" stuck to Mathewson throughout his entire career. It is invariably used now when some one is referring to the late "Matty."

Walter Johnson, because of his great speed, is known as the "Big Swift." Nick Altrock gave him that one.

The "Georgia Peach," while not exactly original, has been a favorite phrase of the writers in speaking of Cobb.

It is the same in every sport. The series coin terms that apply to the stars and these names have great drawing power.

One must have great ability to become a champion in any sport but a good "ballyhoo" is perhaps the next greatest asset to get them at the gate.

BILLY EVANS Says

SPORT BALLYHOO
In the "ballyhoo" that is a part of every sport event, in order to make the public enthuse one aptly coined expression often proves the greatest feature of the "come-on" stuff.

When Babe Ruth slatted on his home-run rampage the baseball writers greatly assisted in creating interest in the super-batter by dizzing up new and unusual titles for the Babe.

First some one shifted from Babe to Bambino. According to my expert foreign interpreter Bambino means Babe in Italian. But certainly there is more color and an air of mystery to Bambino than mere Babe. "King of Swat," while not entirely new, surely fits the Bambino. ONEIDA INDIAN CAGERS
DEFEAT TWELVE CORNERS

The Oneida Indian basketball team took the scalp of the Twelve Corners quintet by squeezing out a narrow victory in the deciding contest of the three-game series to the tune of 18 to 17 Friday evening at Twelve Corners. The Indians have won two games and the Twelve Corners crew have copped one. The teams were so evenly matched that the outcome of the contest was doubtful until the final whistle.

At the end of the first half the Indians were on the long end of a 12 to 6 score, but the Twelve Corners basketballers came back with a rush in the second frame, and threatened to go into the lead. Sommer, center for the Indians was the outstanding star of the game. George Single and Ray Schmidt performed well for Twelve Corners.

The Twelve Corners team has won eight games and lost three out of the 11 played this season. They will meet the Blue Chips of Hortonville, Feb. 16 at Stephenville.

ARCADIA CAGERS HAVE ENVIABLE RECORD

Arcadia — Although making the highest score that was ever recorded by a visiting team in Arcadia, the Waupun City basketball five lost a fast game here Thursday to the 32nd Military Police, 22 to 23. Arcadia was leading 22 to 13 at half time but Waupun came back strong in the final period holding the home team to a 10 to 10 score for the half. Madison scored 15 points for Waupun while Cashen scored best for Arcadia. The Arcadia team will tour eastern Wisconsin during the latter part of this month and would like to hear from strong teams. Appleton was also in the tie but withdrew from the league because of a game protested by Neenah, which Appleton refused to play over.

AGAINST STREET CAR

Neenah—The automobile driven by E. Schaller, route 11, was badly damaged Monday evening when it collided with an Appleton interurban car at the corner of N. Commercial and N. Water-sts. Windows of the interurban car were broken. The accident occurred when the automobile skidded around the corner directly into the car which was going south. No one was injured.

ANCESTRAL HOME OF
WASHINGTON ARRIVES

Norfolk, Va. —(AP)—The ancestral home of George Washington, that stood for more than 300 years in England, has arrived here, packed, in crates and so marked that it can be reconstructed at the birthplace of the first president.

The house was taken apart piece by piece and packed for shipment.

DISCUSS EVOLUTION IN STATE LEGISLATURE

Jackson, Miss. —(AP)—Evolution was the principal topic of discussion at the state capital as the house of representatives prepared to vote on a measure to consider the passage Monday of a bill prohibiting the teaching in state supported schools of the theory that man ascended or descended from a lower order of animals. It is generally believed that the motion will be defeated and the bill passed to the senate.

The acting speaker ruled out of order an amendment offered by Representative E. K. Windham providing that persons convicted of teaching of theory he termed at the state, Representative Evans of Leakeco, the bill's author, termed the theory "communist." He explained his bill makes it unlawful for any teacher or official to select for use in a tax supported school books that teach a doctrine that man ascended or descended from a lower order of animals. The penalty for violation is a fine not exceeding $500 and cancellation of contract.

FIND COUPLE DEAD AFTER SEARCH OF TWO MONTHS

Scotts Bluff, Neb. —(AP)—A two months' search for J. E. Shea, Alliance, Neb., and Miss Hazel Dunbar, Mitchell, Neb., which had occupied hundreds of persons intermittently since they dropped from sight during a snow storm Dec. 13, had ended Tuesday. Bodies of both were in an undertaking establishment at Bayard, awaiting relatives.

George Fox, Bayard rancher, Monday afternoon found the bodies in a gulley from which the snow had just melted about two and a half miles from the place where their abandoned automobile was found after the blizzard which took their lives. They were but a mile from a ranch shelter.

GENERAL PERSHING
ARRIVES AT FLORIDA

Key West, Fla. —(AP)—General John J. Pershing arrived here Tuesday aboard the cruiser Denver enroute to Washington, D. C., from Arica, Chile, where he served until recently as naval chairman of the Taca-Arica plebiscitary commission.

General Pershing appeared to be in very poor health, but said his condition was "fair," and declined to discuss reports that ill-health had prompted his resignation in the South American boundary dispute and his immediate return to the United States.

Major J. G. Queknesser, General Pershing's aide, characterized the general's condition as "bad." He was said to have kept below decks during the journey here except for brief intervals during clear days.

General Pershing said he would enter the Walter Reed Hospital on his return to Washington.

RENT TOO HIGH FOR YOU? MOVE TO RHEIMS

Rheims —(AP)—Rheims is among the few cities in France with empty apartments and a slumping industrial real estate market. The return of the population has not kept pace with rebuilding and restoration, as there are only 75,000 inhabitants as compared with 117,000 before the war.

To the world, Rheims generally is associated first with cathedrals, and then champagne. Before the war, however, it was an important industrial city, where wool weaving, spinning and bleaching employed 10,000 persons, now reduced to about one-third of that number.

Land which at Armistice time sold for 10 to 30 francs the square meter, when it was thought that the city would be itself again in a short time, is now offered at from 5 to 10 francs.

The "Leagues for the Industrial, Commercial and Labor Development of Rheims" has been formed to come to the rescue.

YOUNG NIPPONESE NOT MARRYING VERY EARLY

Tokyo —(AP)—Very young Japanese are not getting married these days, governmental statistics show. In the old days marriages were contracted between young men of 17 or 18 and girls of 15 and 16 years of age. An official inquiry indicated that the average marriageable age for men is 27 and for women, 23.

The tendency toward late marriage is said to be due to modern economic conditions.

STOCKS RALLY
AFTER BIG BREAK

Nash Motors Jumps 19
Points to 599, Closing Is Strong

New York —(AP)—Rallying tendencies were in evidence at the opening of Tuesday's stock market after the sharp break in the food shares and specialties Monday. Texas Gulf Sulphur opened 1½% higher at 133 and went up to 140½. American International gas of a point, or more were received by Philadelphia Company, Central Leather, Preferred Consolidated Cigar, Electric Power and California Packing. Renewed selling of Ward Baking B sent that stock down 2¼ points.

Heaviness developed in United States Steel, Hudson Motors, United States Rubber, Chrysler, American Smelting and American Car and Foundry at midday. Previously the market had ignored the advance in the renewal rate for call loans to 5½ per cent, the highest of the year. Buying was broad and included many unusually neglected stocks. Nash Motors jumped 19 points to 599, American Can nine to 298, and South Porto Rico Sugar, Pacific coast, South Ham Hosiery Mills Pfd., Remington Typewriter and International Match preferred 4½ to 6 points.

Fresh weakness cropped out in the so-called "food merger shares." California dropping from an early high of 155 to 149, Ward Baking B dropping nearly 8 points to 6½ and Postum Cereal yielding 2½ to 110. New York canners, Southern Railway, Sears Roebuck and Foundation also were heavy.

The general list displayed a strong undertone with bullish operations aggressively conducted in a number of specialties. American Snuff soared over 10 points to a new peak price at 165. Allied Chemical advanced nearly 4 points and Central Leather preferred three before the end of the first half hour. Several others including American Can, General Electric and United Fruit showed early gains of 2 points or more. Foreign exchange opened irregular. Demand sterling held steady at 48 1/16 but French francs sank to a new low for the year at 3.68 cents.

The closing was strong. Sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.

The decision of Albert C. Rule, present assessor, to be a candidate for election as mayor next April, has left the assessorship wide open but thus far there hasn't been anything like a wild scramble for the position. The salary has been increased to $2,500 but even this hasn't started a stampede.

It is understood that an effort is being made to induce Frank Schumpp, 1403 S. Meade-st., former assemblyman and former assessor, to be a candidate for election. Mr. Schumpp says he hasn't made up his mind.

Vienna—(AP)—The voluminous score of a mass, bearing the name of Carlo Maria di Weber, found in Salzburg by a young Vienna scientist, Dr. Kenstafin Schneider, has turned out to be a fair copy of the "Grande Mass," which Weber himself regarded as lost.

This work, as it appears from a dedicatory letter attached to the manuscript, was written in Munich in 1799, and was dedicated by the youthful composer to the Prince Archbishop of Salzburg, on May 3rd, 1802.
